Abstract

The metaphysical thoughts known as subhashitas in Sanskrit are basis for ethical values and scientific discoveries. This article presents a set of new metaphysical thoughts.

Keywords: God, Soul, mind, karma, sleep, work, money, radioactive source.

1. Introduction

The minds of philosophers, saints, great thinkers and scientists run in various horizons in exploring the different activities of the nature created by the God. Their mind, energy and time so precious, that every activity leads to some unknown information. They do not need lavish space (place) and energy (food, clothes and house) but requires free mind and free time to explore the God gifted nature. Their explorations and realizations would lead to the scientific study for the benefit of the science and society. The existing scientific theories are meticulous analysis of five cosmic elements (Panch buthas - earth, air, water, sky and fire)¹ by our great ancient and modern scholars.

This article illustrates more metaphysical thoughts which are in continuations of my previous papers²⁻⁶ which are struck to my mind while giving physics lectures and phenomenal behavior of living entities.
